Clerks' Ball Benefit For Red Cross
Events point to a large attendance at the 24th Annual Norway Clerks' Ball at Norway Opera House Tuesday evening. Both floor and balcony tickets are selling rapidly, which indicate the proceeds to the local Red Cross Chapter will be generous. Novel patriotic decorations are well under way and a stage setting of 14 unusual nature is promised. All know that the music will be fine as Howard Shaw and his nine piece orchestra were given a trial last year and they made a decided hit. The Red Cross will furnish refreshments under the direction of Mrs. Mary Smith. The dollars earned the past year will be turned in at this meeting.

Lieut. J. M. Palmer of Lewiston, formerly of the B. F. Spinnery office at Norway, who has been promoted to the rank of Virginia awaiting final decision regarding his service with the army, has been discharged on account of impaired health. Lieut. Palmer has had three weeks in the South and has enjoyed the trip.

Elliot Cummings, the happiest youngster in Norway because of his skills. They are good ones, long and well made, more than twice as long as Elliot is tall, but he can manage to get over the ground on them even without the aid of a pole.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Proctor and eldest daughter of Auburn were in town several days this week because of the death of B. Perley Proctor.

The so called old fashioned measles have their impact at present. They have entered the village schools from primary to high, causing the attendance in several grades to fall nearly one-half. Several are reported ill, but none on the dangerous list. In authority claims there are at least one hundred cases in town.

The guests of the past week at Mrs. George Flint of Paris street were Mrs. Elsie M. Stevens of Harrison, Clarence L. Flint of Sweden, Mrs. John Blair and Mrs. Nellie Cox of South Paris.

Local manager, Harrington L. Flint of the Maine Tel. and Tel. Co. left Thursday evening for Rumford to attend the managers' meeting to be held there Friday afternoon. He expects to return Saturday.

The Tea Room committee for the 1918 Congressional church fair is organizing to increase their finances before that event and have a novel method to collect advanced funds. The idea is to be carried out with a Cycle Tea. The first meeting will be held with Mrs. Percy H. Noyes Thursday evening, February 14 and a small advertisement charged. Each member will in turn invite four on a stated date, these will continue the good work with other invitations later and this chain is expected to bring many dollars into the treasury.

The church from door right into the kitchen, because she had no other place in which to keep them. One old woman, whose son or husband has gone to the trenches has only a small pile of wheat to sustain her during the winter. These are examples of the poverty of the people here, yet there is a great spirit of optimism among them all. No low neck evening gowns, silk hose or high heels here.

The country is very beautiful and reminds me of the New England States, very calm and peaceful. Everything is green and prosperous looking, but there is such a demand for food for the soldiers that the people have to provide for them. Bread is very scarce and the soldiers are forbidden to buy it in order that there will be sufficient.

The U. S. boys are issued American food and you can just bet it is some welcome, very different than the English food they have been eating. Baked beans is one thing the boys enjoy greatly.

Well, a week from today is Thanksgiving. I do not know whether you will get this by turkey or not. We are to have turkey, cranberries, white, red meat, apples and lemons. Not so bad! Many cannot complain, but a good old Hanley meal would be appreciated. Believe me, prune-juice, grape-juice, flub dub, dappacks, custards and chocolates and all such mixtures would soon disappear.

We read papers, no matter how old they are as long as they come from America, so send along anything.

Would like to look in this evening. I certainly enjoyed the time when in and look forward to the time when we will all be in one home again and will be even willing to go to the movies three times a week with you, Ma and listen to the feminine fuddy-duddy, editors. Don't infer from this that I am homesick for I am not, but just want you to know how I enjoy being with you in Berlin.

Give my regards to all. Keep up courage.

NUMBER 5.

NEWS FROM THE BOYS IN SERVICE

This letter was written Nov. 22, somewhere in France by William T. Hanley, Regt. Supply Sergeant, 103rd U. S. Infantry, A. E. F. Mr. Hanley is the son of Mrs. Mabelle Town Hanley of Berlin, N. H., and has many relatives and friends in Norway and vicinity.

Did you get my cable? As I have been expecting to hear from you every day, I put off writing so as to answer any letters that might arrive, but as yet have received just one letter since we reached the present station, Oct. 23. That was from Gladys dated Oct. 11. Somehow our mail is delayed on the way. There were some 15 packages came in tonight, but I did not draw any of the contents. Here's hoping that the next bunch is going to be more generous to me, but I understand that a difficult proposition it must be to get all of the mail straight at first, and I think a system is obtained to get our mail here more direct.

It is rumored that tomorrow is pay day, the first in two months and that it will be in French coin, some bundle as we are paid in 100 Franc notes. A franc is about 17 1/2 cents in our money so you can imagine how big a bundle $150 will be.

I have taken out an insurance policy of the Government for $10,000. This is an insurance by the Government provided against disability or to be paid in case of death. The rate is about $6 a month, and is to be continued by the Government for five years after we are mustered out of the service. It is a very good thing, you Ma.

Will try to tell you now, how I am situated here. We are in a small village, a little larger than Gilead, Me. Everything is crude. You see no youths whatever, either old men or children, as all between are in service. It is safe to say there isn't a household but what has one or more out on No Man's Land giving their life for the right.

Ema and I are boarding with a French family by the name of Heuryot which consists of the husband and wife and two daughters at home. They had two sons in service, but one of them was killed trying to save a wounded officer, while the other is expected home soon on a ten days' furlough. They both received medals for bravery in action. Mr. is a wood carver by trade and makes furniture for dining rooms. He makes by hand, chairs, tables and other dining room pieces. The people here are some skilled in hand work. I will try to take some specimens of their work.

The madam is a dandy cook. Tonight for supper we had roast beef, spaghetti, French bread, Roquefort and American cheese, coffee (not good, too strong and without milk) and an apple tart, one layer of pie crust with a covering of apples stewed. Very, very good. She serves Vin Rouge every day but I do not partake of it as it is too bitter.

The colonel, Lt. colonel, adjutant, major of the Medical Corp. Capt. Greenlaw, chaplain and Lt. Lee of the supply Co. eat with us. The chaplain, Lt. Moody is the son of the great evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, and is a corker. He knows how to play one game of cards that is rum, and we, the chaplain, the adjutant and I play nearly every night. It makes me think of the nice time we used to have and I am looking forward to the time when we can have the same again. But, in the mean time we must keep our spirits up and plug away for Victory, which means Liberty and Democracy.

You probably do not know what it means to fight for those things after seeing how the Germans have ravaged this country and after hearing their ideas of warfare. They realize that they are fighting against invasion of their own country, that is, that was ridiculous, but it is looked at in a very different light now.

The customs of these people would surely amuse you. The people are not very well to do, and their source of news is a town crier. Every day he comes out on the street, beats a drum and then reads the latest news from the front. The people crowd around him and not their heads with joy whenever he reads any good news. There is the town crier. He has a long trumpet and he blows to announce that he is ready to take the sheep out to graze and he starts off with his assistants, three dogs. There are quite a few goats here. The other day I saw an old lady leading two through her front door right into the kitchen, because she had no other place in which to keep them. One old woman, whose son or husband has gone to the trenches has only a small pile of wheat to sustain her during the winter. These are examples of the poverty of the people here, yet there is a great spirit of optimism among them all. No low neck evening gowns, silk hose or high heels here.

age and keep looking forward to better days. Be true, Americans, proud that you had an opportunity to serve your country and flag by sending some one fight for them. Remember there are thousands of homes that have someone the same as you have, and never regret what may happen to me before this war is over, that your son is doing his duty and was willing to give his life, if need be. Will stop now with the hopes that I sent you and to you soon. A box of good old American chocolates will be appreciated any time.

Ernestine Maxim has received an interesting letter from her brother, Cecil N. Maxim, who is doing service in France. Max is a Norway boy, having graduated in the class of 1912, N. H. S. and is well known. He writes in part as follows: "Somewhere in France, Jan. 1, 1918. Dear Sister—I received your most welcome letter of Nov. 17, the other night. I have been to Paris since then. I saw many of the historical objects while there, and among them were Napoleon's tomb, Lafayette statue, the Eiffel tower, ferris wheel, and the Invalides. I also saw the Eiffel tower, a burlesque show, in the afternoon, and another show in the evening. It was something like the American play, 'Twin Beds,' but more to the taste of the French people. We had one grand time. It is some place, in fact there is no place I can compare it to in the United States. I have not received any of the packages you sent from home yet, but expect them every day. There are some car loads of mail waiting in the yard yet to be unloaded so I have not given up hope. I got one or two boxes of their clothing. Aunt Lissie every time we received mail. Have also received letters from everyone in creation that I can think of. I will have to use all my spare time for the next month to get them all answered. Well, I guess this is all for now. Your loving brother, Cecil.

Notes taken from letters received from Sgt. Lester E. Witham in France. A short letter tonight to let you know I am still on earth and feeling fine, also getting along O. K. I have received a number of your letters and they were sure more than welcome. Jack, Henry, Eugene and Lee are all well and all say they like army life.

Dec. 10
Just a few lines tonight to let you know I got your letter that you wrote after receiving my first letter from over the pond. I had not time to write you hear from home even if it was a short, hurried letter. Hope you are well and having the best of luck. I am feeling fine as silk and standing the racket fine. We are having some pretty cold weather here now. I don't have very much pleasant weather at all.

There is not any news to write about tonight and as I am pretty tired, will make this a very short letter and go to bed and get ready for tomorrow's racket. Good night.

Sketches from a letter written by Clifford Buck who is in Scotland with the saw mill unit.

Jan. 6, 1918.
We all got ten days off for Christmas and we surely did improve our time. A great many of the boys went to London and in fact I spent all of my time in that place.

I thought I would visit Glasgow and Edinburgh next spring as it will then be warmer weather. One really needs a week at least in the city of London to see all the points of interest. We are located well up in the north of Scotland, about 840 miles from London. So it took us about 19 hours to make the trip, traveling all the time. It was a great trip and we were somewhat tired as the cars are old fashioned and very uncomfortable to ride in.

While in London made my headquarters at the Eagle Hut of the American Y. M. C. A. I found this a fine place with American cooks and some "Yankee girls" for waitresses. This building has a dining room, where are sleeping accommodations for about 800 people. These are generally located near theaters and stops. I went on some of the Raines tours of the city and saw and visited many of the places of interest. Some of them were in a pleasing manner. The visitors installed in a pleasing manner. The officers installed are:

Sir T. Jewett Chesley, Grand Commander of the Ancient and Illustrious Order, Knights of Malta, will speak in the interest of the order at the K. P. Hall, Friday evening, Feb. 1st, at 7:30. The order is a rival to none and a friend to all. Commissioner Chesley's object is not to institute a lodge, but to inform the public as to the principles of Malta and lay a foundation for a future Comandery. A short musical program has been arranged, all will be admitted without money and without price.

they could not see that the war would end very soon.

It seemed very different when we boys got back to work after enjoying ourselves so much.

Got a nice neck scarf from Elsie and brother-in-law, who are in the west, also a fruit cake and sweets from my classmates of 1913, which I greatly appreciated. As yet I have not received the Christmas package which you home folks sent.

B. Perley Proctor, aged 75, of Norway died at the Central Maine General Hospital at Lewiston Saturday morning, Jan. 26. He was taken there New Year's Day, suffering with a broken leg and other injuries received from a runaway team while clearing snow from the corner of Main and Paris street.

Death was due largely to the shock. Mr. Proctor was born at North Waterford February 19, 1843, the son of John and Mary (Shedd) Proctor. He was the grandson of Benjamin Proctor, who journeyed from Danvers, Mass., to Albany in 1805 and subdivided a large timber tract saving lumber on the site now Lynch's Mills. Later moved to Waterford and cleared the well known Deacon William Kilbourn farm.

The deceased lived at the homestead on Proctor Hill, a little east of the original Proctor settlement, before coming to Norway 34 years ago. He was employed at the Paris Manufacturing Co. for a number of years, but since the opening of the electric road in 1895, has been steadily employed with the Norway & Paris St. Ry. Co. and the oldest employee with that corporation.

Fifty years ago he married Laura Harriman of Lovell and a golden wedding celebration was being planned if his health permitted. Mr. Proctor was a member of the U. O. F. Lodge at North Waterford, a regular attendant at the Norway Methodist church and a man well known and respected in town. Mr. Proctor has been a constant visitor during his treatment at the hospital, making her home with her son, Fred G. Proctor of Auburn.

Beside the widow he is survived by the son, Fred Proctor of Auburn, a daughter, Ethel, wife of Charles Wood of Skowhegan, a sister, Marie Parker of Portland and several grandchildren.

The funeral services were held at his late home Tuesday afternoon in charge of Norway Lodge No. 16 I. O. O. F., Rev. H. L. Nichols of the Methodist church officiated. The bearers were Winfield S. Squap, D. Dwyer, Dennis Pike and Elmer Caldwell. The remains were placed in the tomb at Pine Grove cemetery.

The following is the list of flowers: Pinks—Mrs. B. Proctor. Sprays of pinks and cut flowers—Grandchildren. Sprays of narcissus—Mrs. Mary Oxnard and Mr. and Mrs. Elton Brown. Sprays of snapdragons and stocks—Mr. and Mrs. C. P. O. F. of North Waterford. Sprays of pinks—Mrs. Mac-Connant and Miss Edith Whitney. Pillow and standing wreaths—Employees of Electric Co. Wreath—I. O. O. F. of North Waterford. Spray of white pinks—Friends of Auburn. Sprays of white pinks—Rebekah Friends. Sprays of white pinks—Mrs. Sylvia Lusk, Mrs. Anna Lusk, Mrs. N. H. Calla Lilies—Mrs. and Mrs. M. L. Kilgore. Sprays of mixed pinks—Mrs. and Mrs. James Tubbs, Minnie Willey. Sprays of narcissus—Mrs. and Mrs. C. N. Tubbs.

Pythian Sisters Special Meeting
Lake Temple Pythian Sisters held a special meeting Tuesday evening. A covered dish supper was followed by an installation of officers.

The supper served at 6:30 was under the direction of Mrs. Emma Cullinan and Mrs. Maud Spiller and one of those temptingly spreads for which the sisterhood is famous. The menu included baked beans, scalloped oyster and salmon, macaroni and tomatoes, scalloped potatoes, cookies, doughnuts, pastry, cheese, pickles and coffee.

At the installation which followed, Grand Chief Gertrude W. Libby was assisted by Grand Manager Emma A. Cullinan and Grand Senior Edna Thompson. She performed the duties of the office in a pleasing manner. The visitors installed in a pleasing manner. The officers installed are:

Chapman Concert Rare Treat
Prof. Wm. R. Chapman with Vernon Stiles, the best American tenor, Hans Kronold, a famous cellist and Harriet McConnell, a wonderful contralto are to appear in Norway Opera House Tuesday, February 12.

These artists need only a brief introduction as their work in the musical world is well known and artistic ability unquestioned. Vernon Stiles is acknowledged the best American tenor since Evans Williams, having been enthusiastically received at European Opera House and the great Metropolitan in New York and was the sensation at the last Maine Music Festival.

Harriet McConnell, one of the finest contraltos in New York City, has been classed by critics as a second Schumann-Heink.

Hans Kronold appeared here some ten years ago and his magic touch on the cello has not been forgotten. This artist alone should prove a strong attraction and return in his program more than the small price of a ticket. Prof. Chapman will play the accompaniments which in the past have been a feature at these annual concerts.

Last season Mr. Chapman considered it useless to bring expensive talent here because of the seeming indifference of the people and made an announcement to that effect. Friends prevailed upon him to give one more trial, therefore the following citizens of Norway and South Paris have formed a unit to boom this concert, distribute tickets and pack the Opera House. The committee of workers include True O. Morrill, F. P. Stone, L. M. Carroll, W. C. Wood, R. S. Cummings, Fredland Howe, S. B. Cummings, Olin L. Stone, H. L. Horne, Arthur Descente, Carroll Barker, Helen Holmes, Carrie Tucker, Margaret Lougee, Marjorie Barker, Genevieve Baker, Elizabeth McCree, Marie Downing, Addie Longley, Doris Brooks, Isma McKee, Muriel McKee, Louise Thomas, Gretchen Eisenwinter, Dorris Longley, Madelyn Hayden, Alice Bartlett, Marion Welch, Elizabeth Kladt, Ruth Akers, Florence Harriman, Ruth Carroll, Mrs. Bessie Cross, A. An interesting letter from Selden H. Kilgore of 1229 North Market St., Wichita, Kansas, reads as follows: "I take several weekly newspapers from different sections of the country, but think your paper the best I have seen and therefore enclose check for subscription. I was born in Somerset Co., Me., my father, Samuel Kilgore, was born in Newry, Me., Dec. 29, 1806 and died in Smithville, Somerset Co., Me. Dec. 31, 1898. His father, my grandfather, Samuel Kilgore, was born in Bethel, Me., in 1777 and died in Merced, Me., Nov. 8, 1829. His father, my great grandfather John Kilgore, married Elizabeth Brackett of Bethel, Me. He lived in Kittery, Me. They later moved to Fryeburg, Me. and afterwards to Bethel, Me., and as I am collecting the Genealogy of the Kilgore family, feel particularly interested in Oxford Co. and that section of Maine. If there are any Kilgores in Oxford Co., Me., who can give me the names, names of parents of Bethel, Me., I will be glad to hear from them. I will be pleased to correspond with them."

Browning Reading Club Discuss War
Mrs. E. B. Kimball was hostess at the regular meeting of the Browning Reading Club, which met at her home Monday evening. After the roll call answered with current events the following question was debated: "Resolved: That the necessary evils of war are justified in the world outweigh the good results it has produced. Affirmative, Eva Kimball, Negative, Mary Cole. The discussion was a well prepared, historical synopsis treating on facts and results of many conflicts from the medieval ages to our present gigantic struggle. A vote decided the question in the affirmative by a narrow margin but exceptions were taken in the results of our world war. All agreed the benefits derived from an allied victory would be constructive and lasting. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Edith Bartlett on Monday evening, Feb. 4. Current events are to be discussed at roll call."

Methodist Mission
The W. F. M. S. met with Mrs. Thomas Murrhead last Thursday, which was largely a business meeting. Bessie Eleanor Bonney was made a life member of the Little Light Bearers. Mrs. L. A. Merriam was appointed to look after the garments to be made for the war orphans in France, and Helen Pike to prepare the missionary basket for the coming year. All are requested to give pieces of fancy work, handkerchiefs, ribbons, odd dishes, anything that will sell for a few pennies and upward.

Sadie Howard reported for the King's Standard Bearers. Others on the program were Mrs. G. A. Allen, Mrs. F. E. Bussell and Miss Noyes.

Thursday, Feb. 7, a covered dish supper for members and invited guests will be served at the vestry followed by an entertainment in charge of Mrs. H. L. Nichols to which the ladies are invited. This is the Sunshine Bag opening which takes the place of the annual thank offering and a silver collection will be taken from those not having the bags. Ice cream will be on sale. In the afternoon there will be a business meeting of the Ladies' Aid.

Past District Deputy Grand Master, Leo M. Smith, assisted by Fred E. Smith a grand marshal installed the officers of Mt. Hiram Lodge, F. and A. M. at Waterford, Friday evening. A SAFE TEST

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Norway people.

Wm. O. Needham, retired farmer, Main St., Norway, says: "At different times, when I have taken cold, my kidneys have become affected. Several years ago when I felt that my kidneys needed attention, I got Doan's Kidney Pills from F. P. Stone's Drug Store. They strengthened my kidneys, ridding my system of the excess of uric acid and in a short time I felt much better."

The above statement was given July 24, 1908 and on June 6, 1916, Mr. Needham said: "I still endorse Doan's Kidney Pills and my confidence in them is as strong as ever. I occasionally use Doan's when I feel in need of them and always get fine results."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Needham had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

LIFE

There is a joy in living.
In summer days and spring.
The autumn days are coming.
With a joy that harvest brings.

The frosty days of winter.
Bring a joy even with their sting.
Soon the frozen brooks will
Will run away in spring.

We are full of gladness
For the joy that comes with living.
There will be some sadness,
But every winter has a spring.

For the joy that comes with living.
Its winter days and spring.
A summer time and gladness.
With a joy which victory brings.

J. P. Stearns.

THE MAN WHO WINS
The man who wins is an average man,
Not built on any peculiar plan.
Not blessed with any peculiar luck.
Just steady and earnest and full of pluck.

When asked a question he does not guess—
He knows, and answers "No" or "Yes."
He sets a task that the rest can't do,
He buckles down and he puts it through.

Three things he learned: That the man who tries
To do his best is the man who wins;
That it pays to know more than one thing well;
That it doesn't pay all he knows to tell.

He knows the value of the man who works,
Who neither lingers nor troubles others,
Who uses his hands, his head, his eyes;
The man who wins is the man who tries.

LOVELL
Bennett McDaniels is getting ready to cut ice in the mill race.
Preston Walker is improving.
D. W. Nichols was in the village Friday. He said the roads in West Lovell were badly drifted. "It has been a hard winter. There are no good roads any where."

A. A. Stearns has been on the sick list the past week with measles.
P. E. Emery is smoking bacon for the people around the village. He locks the smoke house nights as a good name is worth more than a Liberty bond. They tell the story of the woman that went to the bank and told them she wanted to buy a Liberty bond for her husband.
"Sure," they say, "what size?"
"Well, I don't really know," says she,
"but he wears a fifteen collar."

The Woven Web
The drama "The Woven Web" was presented at Wiley's Hall, Jan. 25. The house was packed to the doors. Mrs.
Cook's honest story of five pieces gave a fine concert before the audience. See Our Work.
L. W. Walker had charge of the ticket office, John Kimball took up the tickets at the inside door. A number of the ladies run a popcorn booth in one corner of the house and had all they could do to keep up with the orders.

The drama was more than well played,
it would be useless to speak of any single character as they were all No. one. Not a break nor a mistake was made by one of them from start to finish. The make-ups were good, the uniforms of blue and gray brought back to the older ones
the memory of the stirring days of '61.

C. S. Heald and Mrs. Charles of North Fryeburg entertained the audience with fine songs between the acts. H. H. Wiley sang his croon in the basement and did a good business. A social dance finished out the evening. The receipts were almost one hundred dollars.

My dear friend:
I am in receipt of a pair of wristlets with which I found your address and I am taking this opportunity to thank you for them for they are certainly the kind of things that a man in the service needs.

I can't say I ever received a more useful article and please accept my sincere thanks for them. Strange to say that we both have the same name, but we originally are many miles apart, my home being in Atlanta, Ga., some distance from here and have not been home in nearly three years, but my enlistment expires in May and I expect to at least be home for a couple of months. Well my dear friend I must close hoping I may hear from you in the near future and again thanking you I am your friend.

Reginald, the 12 year old son of Mr.
and Mrs. W. A. Clough is reported as resting comfortably at the McCarthy hospital. The boy met with a terrible accident in Virginia while skiing. He was coming down the Poland hill back of Marilyn Blanchard's barn when he tripped and fell onto the rear rungers of a double

We notice that Charles B. Cummings is president of a Mutual Fire Insurance of Boston. His fame as a financier will soon outshine the glory of his bear hunting expeditions.

Irving Merrill fell on the ice near Gilbert & Pess' store Sunday afternoon, and in trying to save himself injured his hand so he was unable to work.

The prices are so low at some of our stores during these times of special sales and the people are laying in such quantities of goods that our traders are beginning to fear they will never want to buy any more.

"Hot Pike and I are repairing the Oxford Bear Fire Tub Engine," said Mr. M. Fuller the other night. Upon inquiry it was ascertained that the old tub is to be fixed up. Possibly a volunteer fire company will be organized and the tub be put into service in the ornamental and social branch of our department. It is a venerable landmark of Norway entering its prime and certainly is of value yet.

The big shoe factory team carried the girls home Tuesday night. It was something like a hayrack ride and they had great fun in spite of the snow and blow.

"One on Price"
The following from the Sheepscot Echo, Wiscasset, where Mr. and Mrs. H. Price Webber are passing the winter, seems to indicate "one on Price." In one of the worst storms they have had there for many years, the snow came down so thick and fast in the morning that it almost blinded one to be out of doors. At noon the rain came down pouring, making it very difficult for pedestrians to keep their balance. One gentleman trod on the treacherous ice and was precipitated in a rather undignified manner to the ground. Our friend, Price Webber, the popular theatrical manager and comedian, was on his way to the post office when the man fell and called out:

"The wicked tread in slippery places!"

Just then a heavy snow slide from the roof fell on Price and he hurriedly sat down. Looking at the fallen snow Price said:

"This is an unwarrantable intrusion!"

Another shouted from the other side of the street:

"Never mind, Price, the snow is soft!"

"Very true," said the comedian, "but unfortunately I did not fall on the snow, I fell on the ice and it is anything but soft!"

A roar of laughter from the bystanders greeted the incident.

Mrs. N. E. Sawyer
After a prolonged illness, Mrs. N. E. Sawyer died at her home at Sebago Lake, Monday afternoon, January 27.

Mrs. Sawyer was born in Norway, Oct. 17, 1856. She was married to N. E. Sawyer in 1876 and soon afterwards accompanied her husband to Sebago Lake, where she passed most of her life. Her funeral services were held on Thursday by Rev. Mr. McCollins, assisted by Rev. A. T. McWhorter of Lawrence, Mass.

In the death of Mrs. Sawyer the town of Sebago loses a woman of modest and unassuming character, but one of great heart and a woman of great integrity, as well as success in business. She was a prominent and active member of the Congregational church, of which she was a charter member.

Darius Cobb Run Down by Baggage Truck
Darius Cobb, one of the Norway twins, 32 years old, the venerable Boston and Newton artist, who was run down and painfully injured at the South Boston station by a baggage truck, wrote immediately upon reaching his home to the president of the New Haven railroad, asking that the workman driving the truck be absolved from blame.

"I wrote the president that I didn't want the man to suffer in any way, but I wanted the man to regard the accident as simply an incident of life," the artist said last night. "My sympathy is at all ways with the workmen, and I want to do all I can to help them. I don't want the driver of the truck to be punished for my failure to be quick enough to get out of his way."

Mr. Cobb fell face downward on the floor of the station. He sustained lacerations and bruises on his cheek and above his eye.

Mrs. Gladys Noyes entertained the members of the Home Department of the M. E. Sunday School at her home on Green street, Wednesday, the 23rd. Next month they will meet at the home of Mrs. O. L. Smith.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Thomas Muirhead.

Prof. A. E. Merrill of New Haven, Conn. is in Carson City, Nevada, the guest of S. P. Davis and family.

BOLSTER'S MILLS.

Temperance Service

Rev. H. L. Nichols of the Methodist church, Norway, delivered a temperance sermon under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. Sunday. The discourse was pregnant with facts showing the great gains in recent months for the cause of prohibition and mention was made of the splendid work done by our governor and his staff in forcing the law. The prophecy was made that woman's prayers would soon be supported by her ballot and that National Constitutional Prohibition will be ushered in. Those who failed to attend church missed a fine sermon. The songs were from the temperance songster supplied by the union.

Rev. D. B. Holt will preach at the church Thursday evening of this week. The usual Friday evening prayer service will be omitted.

The Ladies' Aid meets Thursday afternoon with Fannie Wright. The ladies are knitting for the soldiers.

Irving Cobb, who is stopping in Bridgton, was in the place, Wednesday.

HOW SHOULD WOOD BE SOLD?

The Fuel Administration has received numerous complaints as to the way wood is sold and many inquiries relative to the law governing its sale. The law relative to the sale of wood is clear, explicit and definite. But there has come to be a good deal of laxity in the matter of sale and delivery of wood. The following covers the items about which inquiries have been made. Of course sale can be made in other ways by mutual agreement and the quantity that the agreement has been entered into these provisions hold.

The law makes it the duty of each city, town or village corporation to provide sworn measurers of wood and to regulate their fees.

Cord wood shall be four feet long including half the scarf, and be well and closely laid together. A cord shall contain 128 cubic feet. The measurer shall make allowance for refuse or defective wood, and bad stowage.

Wood brought into town or delivered from a landing must, unless otherwise agreed to by the purchaser, before it is delivered be measured by a sworn measurer, who shall give a ticket to the driver showing the quantity that the load contains, the name of the driver, and the town in which he resides. Fraudulent stowage is a misdemeanor.

Any city, town or village corporation may establish a fuel wood yard for the purpose of selling fuel wood to its inhabitants, but without financial profit. Wood for use in winter of 1918-19 should be chopped before next summer.

MILLION SCHOOL CHILDREN AT WORK

This is the hope and undertaking of the National Red Cross organization now organizing the boys and girls of America. A special campaign for enrollment will be made from February 12th to February 22nd—Lincoln's Birthday to Washington's Birthday—and every school in New England will be canvassed. The campaign has the support of school officers and the teachers have been enlisted in the work.

Encouraging response has already been received from the preliminary campaign begun in the fall. For instance, Malden, Mass. reports 100 per cent. school membership. So do the smaller towns of Millinocket and Wiscasset, Me. This means that every boy and girl of school age in those places enrolled and doing some sort of useful Red Cross work for America's Soldiers and those of the allies. It is a new stimulus to the children of the country. It gives them responsibility in the war and an opportunity for patriotic work under National organization.

Norway and Vicinity

Direct News From Russia

Sam Isaacson of Norway has just received a letter from his wife in Russia, written Nov. 15, 1917, the old calendar, but Nov. 8, 1917 according to our reckoning. We know in a general way that the conditions are appalling, but the contents of the letter adds a personal touch to the facts we know from published articles and lectures on the subject.

Mr. Isaacson served eighteen months with the Russian army against Germany. He took "French leave" through Siberia, Corea, China, Japan, thence to America, landing at San Francisco, Cal. Jan. 1, 1917, coming to Norway in March. He has made his home with a brother, Harry Isaacson. If it were possible, his wife and two young children, Philip and Miriam would come over, but no person is allowed to leave the country by the regular route which is from Antwerp, Belgium to New York, a twelve days trip. The 35,000 mile journey taken by the husband and father with its dangers from arrest and hardship, would be an impossible feat for this unprotected woman and children, so they must remain. The following letter is an appeal that touches the heart, but Mr. Isaacson is unable to render any material assistance, so long as the present international conditions exist.

It is interesting to note that Sam is a member of the Norway Red Cross Chapter and sympathies all American soldiers' services were needed there are few native born young men who would go to the front under the stars and stripes with more enthusiasm than he.

Mr. Isaacson translated the censored communication for the Advertiser and it is published in full.

Rudokovitz, State of Vilno, Russia, Nov. 15.

Dear Sam: I am glad to tell you, I received your letter and two postal cards. Am also glad of your best health. I and our two little children are very well.

I would like to write a few lines about our food and its bad condition. No person is getting but 2 pounds of rye meal a week and 2 pounds of wheat flour a month, with a pound and a half of sugar. You couldn't get more for the whole year. Issue food cards each week and these are purchased for every purchase. I can get along even with that as our children can draw the same amount. Your father raised potatoes and other vegetables and has been very kind to me, giving us enough to live on.

The City people are just starving, but cannot butter, milk or cheese since last fall. You couldn't buy these for any Russian money as people call the coin good for nothing. That is the reason vegetables are not raised in large quantities to sell, but only for home use. We are having severe epidemics for we have no doctors recently sent home one-third of the army because they were short of ammunition and food. When the poor soldiers reached us wives did not recognize their husbands nor children their fathers, because of their awful physical condition. Nearly all came home in rags and without shoes.

Our hopes were all for America because we were fighting Japan, America makes peace for us, but now, with the states in the war, we can see any way to stop it or give us relief. If I had wings I might fly across to your home in America. It is the children I care about and not myself for if the war does not stop before spring, we will certainly starve or die in the epidemics that are breaking out all about us.

We can't buy shoes or clothing at any price, so have to make over our old clothes for Philip. If there was any way to send me a pair of shoes and a pair for our boy please do so.

The battle front is only 16 miles from us, but since the revolution the Germans have not been so ugly. They used to bomb us every day except in rainy weather, flying over our town with air ships. Now they only drop German pamphlets. We don't care for their papers, but glad they have stopped dropping the awful bombs.

Norway Grange

Norway Grange met Jan. 26th. The weather being propitious there was a goodly number in attendance. The principal feature of the meeting was the installation of the new officers which was deferred until this date, owing to the inclemency of the weather on Jan. 32, the time previously set for the work. At 1:45 p. m. worthy Master Geo. W. Richardson called the meeting to order. The opening exercises included the song, "As We Go Forth to Labor" in which all joined. Minutes of previous meetings read, several matters of business were disposed of. A communication from State Lecturer C. O. Partridge was read in regard to the lecturer's conference to be held in Augusta on Feb. 6-7. The grange voted to have the lecturer attend the session.

A short recess was then declared by worthy Master Richardson, preceding the work of installing the officers which was ably performed by Brother A. E. Morse, assisted by Ove Howe and Percy Upton, who in turn were assisted by their aids, Marion Sanborn as emblem bearer and Florence Marston as regalia bearer. The ceremony was very instructive and interesting.

The music which featured the occasion was under the direction of U. S. G. Abbott, which included singing, Star Spangled Banner, choir, invocation, John S. Brown, after which the work was taken up and carried out in regular form, interspersed with vocal and instrumental music.

Perry to the office which he had held for three years and wished him unlimited success, and in a heartfelt manner, thanked the members for their loyal support, the pleasure, honor and profit that had come to him during his term of office as master of Norway Grange and the confidence placed in him by the members. Smilage Campaign

A Smilage Campaign is soon to be launched in Norway. Fred L. Pike recently received notice that he had been appointed director for the local campaign.

To understand the Smilage idea, it is well for a few explanations. At a recent conference held at Washington and one at Denver, delegates from twenty states met for the purpose of furthering plans whereby the Military Entertainment Council might meet the responsibility placed upon it by the War Department, through this commission or Training Camp Activities. This responsibility consists in co-ordinating the activities of all organizations engaged in furnishing professional entertainment for soldiers and sailors in cantonments and encampments.

A while ago it became evident that $1,000,000 would be required to finance the work of co-ordination and the operation of the Liberty Theatres, Liberty Tents, and auditoriums already erected in the cantonments and other places, where soldiers and sailors will be stationed. At the conference plans for raising this fund was outlined.

The plan for raising the fund is by the Smilage Book. This is a book containing coupons entitling the holder to admission and seat tickets at Liberty Theatres, Liberty Tents and auditoriums under the management of the Commission or Training Camp Activities in National Army Cantonments and National Guard Camps.

The Smilage Books are issued by the Military Entertainment Council on Training Camp Activities at Washington, D. C. There are two kinds of Smilage Books, one costs $1.00, the other $5.00, the first contains 20 coupons, the second 100 coupons. These are to be used at the Liberty Entertainments in all National Guard camps and are to be used by the soldiers.

These books are to be bought by the people—each city and town is proportioned 5 per cent. of its population, thus Norway should sell $150 worth of the Smilage Books—to be sent direct to the soldiers.

BASKET BALL

Portland High 22, Norway High 8

In a hard fought game at Norway Opera House, Friday evening, the Portland High quintet topped one from Norway High. The home team scored only in the first period, as they missed eight chances from free tries and were unlucky in basket shooting during the last half. Norway Grammar school blanked Ward 8 in four five minute periods, winning two baskets with a total of four points.

The big show was fast and furious with undue roughness, giving the school fans a hang-up exhibition of clean, speedy basket ball tactics. Portland sent up a smooth working team that gave evidence of thorough coaching. Their work was largely from position and open playing with fast passing made this game spectacular. Rushing with good weight behind the moves would have carried Norway off their feet many times if a ball dog defense had not checked them at the action. Flavin, for the visitors was the king pin, scoring eight floor goals and eking four fouls from a possible six. He landed a pair of neat baskets from long range that were beauties. There was a tendency during the latter part of the second half for Portland to jockey by throwing into the balcony, shoe troubles and unnecessary back passing.

Norway played an excellent game, the team was forced to hand out their best or not drifted into individual playing as recorded in the summary can give little idea of the actual work. It never mentions "near baskets" nor excellent defensive work that balks players which would score against the team if carried to a conclusion. No team play requiring clear head and swift heels can be read between the lines and often the scrappers who save the game, or make defeat more sweet have no showing on paper.

Klain was hit to a left forward that had it all over him in weight and height, but the gamey chap played up his position skillfully from the floor. Only two baskets from 10 fouls was not up to the usual standard of shooting, seven of these were tried on the "thud" or "hook" shot called without scoring results. He dropped his only basket from the floor into the ring on a long throw that was a star shot. Descoteaux had many chances in the last period to cage the pill, but that confounded thing disobeyed all known laws of gravitation and just wouldn't slide through. It seemed as if some unseen vindictive imp was on the spot to push the sphere back. The same jinx was there on the two free tries. Barker secured the first basket for this team and put up his best blocking game thus far, dogging his opponent so closely little damage came from that quarter. Stone and Fletcher were over the floor like a pair of jumping beans, playing a like pair of defensive game that spoiled many handsome passes. In fact the home quintet worked off several attacks when the invaders were dangerously close to scoring, and kept the points from climbing against them to a higher perch. A well organized cheering delegation on the stage added considerably to the excitement. They were very impartial in their bestowal of music, the Portland boys received a good share as they appeared at each period.

The West Paris play here Friday evening, Feb. 1. They have been putting up good games this winter and should make an interesting contest at this time.

N. G. S. 4, Ward 8 0

Norway Grammar school removed four from the boys in Ward 8 during the evening. The bunch were advertised as bantams with pep and there was no misrepresentation. Both sides went at it in four five minute periods, furnishing sport, but also showing many embryonic players who may be heard from in this line a few years later.

The boys were small and found the baskets high, many were unable to push the ball to the ring. Shooting was a common trick, but there was hardly gas enough behind the sphere to carry it within scoring distance. As Ward 8 had been picked from the schools in a hurry, they had little or no practice, but believe at some future date they can win back that last four and hold up the scragging reputation of the well known school.

Basket Ball Friday Evening

Norway High are booked to go up against the West Paris High quintet at Norway Opera House Friday evening, Feb. 1. This will be a closely contested game as the visitors are going at a fast clip. Norway recently captured several high school teams with a wide margin. Norway won the first game at West Paris by a narrow edge. As both have greatly improved and strengthened their outfits, a good clean fight right through may be expected.

Paris 18, Gould's Academy 13

Clean and fast playing was featured in the basket ball game of Savoy Theatre Friday evening. Paris broke the ice and secured a lead marking up 11 points against Goulds 5 at the end of the first period. The visitors opened the second half with a rush that evened the score but Paris also got busy winning out with an 18-13 result. McGinley showed good form shooting baskets from the foul line while Carter caged several pretty floor goals. Good feeling prevailed and no unpleasantness marred an interesting game to follow.

PARIS GIRLS 15, G. A. Girls 9

A lively game between the girls' team of Paris High and the girls of Gould's Academy in Savoy Theatre Friday evening was neatly played with clean work all the way through. The first half was played with three courts which proved a handicap to Gould's as they were familiar only with the two court rules. Paris generously voted to play the second half in this manner and that part went with more speed and certainty.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms, I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again."

In her early childhood she lost both parents and thus at a tender age was called upon to meet the grave responsibilities of life.

In the year 1863 she was united in marriage with Sewall Frank Hayes of Lewiston. Two children, Austin John and Alice Avery were born of this union. They resided in the town of Greenwood for a period of seventeen years where they conducted a general merchandise store, later removing to West Paris to continue their business enterprise on a larger scale. For thirty-five years Mrs. Emmons was actively associated with her husband, and the success of their business was due in great measure to her increasing cooperation. A few years after retiring from business, on account of failing health, Mrs. Emmons died in West Paris, January 15, 1914, and since that time Mrs. Emmons has made her home in Portland, surrounded by those dear to her.

The funeral services were held at West Paris, on Friday, at one o'clock, in the Methodist church, of which Mrs. Emmons had for many years been a faithful and consistent member. The ritual service of the funeral was held at the residence of Onward Rebekah lodge, No. 29, of which order she was Past Noble Grand was very impressively performed.

BUSINESS NOT AS USUAL

When the war was first declared, the call went out to the country, "Keep Business as Usual." At that time it was feared that the war-scare would have a depressing effect upon the industries of the country and cause business to "steer close to shore." Ordinarily this might have been the result, but in the present instance the very opposite has been the case.

Instead of curtailing business in any direction, the war has given such a stimulus to business in all lines that the American people today are more prosperous than at any time in their history, and this in the face of the huge sums they have been called upon to contribute to the various war activities.

Now the slogan is not business as usual, but business not as usual—greater than usual, with more vim and vigor than we have ever before put into it. We are called on to make every minute and hour of our days to count. The manufacturer is urged to speed up production, the farmer is urged to multiply the yield of his acres. Every mill and factory and shop in the land is urged to give its best efforts to swelling the volume of business—because only by keeping the volume up to the highest possible mark can we be enabled to respond to the tremendous demands that are being made upon the resources of the country.

We have been accustomed to boast of the immense Natural and Undeveloped resources of the country. The time has come when these resources must be developed. An unopened coal mine must be opened and its treasures thrown on the market. Mineral deposits must be developed and their contents given to swell the total of materials. Valuable tracts of timber that are being made for manufacture must be laid under the axe and the saw. The resources of the country must be brought into use.

While prices of all commodities are higher, the country has money—millions and billions of it. Almost any kind of a workman in any branch of industry can command a decent salary and good workmen are in demand at wages never before dreamed of.

But in order that this may continue, all must work and spend. The purse strings must not be closed on the dollar that is in hand, but it must be spent freely that a crop of dollars may be the result. What if raw materials are high? The world is still crying for the finished product and figures even higher. The demand in all lines for supplies, and more supplies. There is no limit to the demand except the capacity of the country.
